FCC (Federal Communications Commission)

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC`s Rules. Operation is subject to the following two Conditions:
1. This device may not cause harmful interference, and
2. This device must accept ant interference received, including interference that may cause undesirable operation.
This device complies with part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the condition that this device does not cause harmful interference.
The antenna must be installed such that 0 cm is maintained between the antenna and users, and the transmitter module may not be co-located with any other transmitter or antenna.
End users cannot modify this transmitter device. Any Unauthorized modifi cation could void the user`s authority to operate this device.

Part 15.105 (B)
Note : This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications, However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:
- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.

- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.
Modifications not expressly approved by the manufacturer could void the user's authority to operated the equipment under FCC rules.
FCC 15.407 (g) states
Manufacturers of U-NII devices are responsible for ensuring frequency stability such that an emission is maintained within the band of operation under all conditions of normal operation as specified in the users manual.
Since this is an Indoor Only device (required for this band) you do not need to worry about the extreme frequency Stability over wide temperatures, but you can show that the frequency Generation portion of this device (from the schematic) has its own stated stability that would never allow the device to generate emissions or part of the spectrum outside of the authorized band (can be determined by looking at the Occupied BW plots to see how much margin to the band edge is available).
If the devices in the future use the other higher frequency UNII bands, and the devices can be used outdoors, you may need to provide details of stability over a much wider temperature range (depending on the use conditions stated in the manual).
Most compliance for this requirement is stated from the specification of the frequency generation portion of the device and not necessarily through additional testing.
